Policy for Slow and Advanced Learners

➤ Identification criteria

The Institutional examination committee identifies the slow and advanced learners based on the following criteria:

1. The students securing less than 60% marks in the first class test are considered as slow learners.
2. The students securing marks between 60-70 % in the first class test are considered as moderate learners.
3. The students securing more than 75% marks in the first class test are considered as advanced learner.

➤ Measures taken

For slow learners:

1. The slow learners are motivated by counselling regarding studies, time management.
2. Tutorial and remedial classes are arranged by the subject teachers for problem solving.
3. The slow learners are given assignments. They are asked to rewrite the class test and university question papers for practice.
4. They are asked to refer question bank and model answers of respective subjects.

For moderate learners:

1. Motivated for further academic improvement by giving assignments, previous class test and university question papers for practice.
2. They are asked to refer question bank and model answers of respective subjects.

For advanced learners:

1. They are motivated for studies and improvement of overall performance
2. Extra coaching for competitive exam like GPAT are arranged
3. They are motivated by giving medals and certificate during annual social gathering.
